With my two boys, I have been baking for as long as I can remember. They are 12 and 10 now, but they were two when their mom and I first started baking together. I remember when I was single, I used to bake for him for his birthday. I was always happy to bake for him. I enjoyed being creative in the kitchen, but I also enjoy eating those baked treats. I have always loved to bake. I loved the process of preparing the ingredients and following recipes to be able to produce a finished product. I loved creating new recipes and experimenting with foods that I hadn't cooked in many years. I also loved the end result. Then we got married. Now I have a good friend who is also a great baker, so she began taking baking lessons from me. Then the boys came. Now our kitchen is full of desserts, cakes, muffins, macarons, cookies, you name it. I want to be good at it. I want to be able to bake for my kids and still enjoy the process. I want to share that gift with them. I want to be a baker who will make something yummy for my family without breaking the bank. I love to bake, and I love to share what I love to bake with my family. As a mother of three boys, I enjoy baking and decorating for the family.
