Improvements to ball physics FIFA 22 introduces “HyperMotion Technology,” which uses motion capture data collected from 22 real-life players playing a complete, high-intensity football match in motion capture suits. The data collected from player movements, tackles, aerial duels and on-ball actions is used to power FIFA 22 gameplay. With ball physics driven by the data on the real movement of ball and players, FIFA 22 ball physics more accurately reflect on-field interactions. ## Fifa 22 Features Key:

- New Real Player Motion Captures (RPMC) allows on-the-ball action to be more fluid and realistic - Through the use of a dedicated motion capture team and motion tracker, we have brought RPMC to the next level, unlocking new control over every action of the game. In addition to allowing players greater control over their direction and acceleration, we’ve implemented new gameplay elements which allow greater freedom of action on the ball and cleaner on-the-ball animations.
- Revamped broadcast games - Look out for more immersive presentation including new camera angles, sideline views, a 3D commentary for every live match, and a new presentation featuring hosts and commentators filling in for broadcasters during their busy days - FIFA World Cup host nation Brazil is the latest television destination in the BBC's group of worldwide broadcasters and presents an on-screen programming schedule unprecedented for a FIFA game, providing a personal look behind the scenes as well as unique access to stadium and stadium tours, while also offering a streaming service for fans.

- Re-designed Clubs - New Stadia with authentic location-specific cues, updated kit designs, and the latest animations - Inspired by the facilities, fans, and fashion of the club over the last ten years - Chelsea have expanded their training facility ahead of the World Cup, giving fans a bigger feel for their club's unique fabric; and Aston Villa will have dedicated ramps and disabled player areas in their new stadium; the German Bundesliga will now boast a purpose-built academy; the demand for stadiums inspired by the world's best designs is leading to a new generation of striking kits, with new designs, vibrant colors, and cool materials.
- Asphalt Authenticity - Track pitch surface technology for the first time ever using next-generation tools, technology and mapping data allowing for accurate distancing between pitches with fewer surface inaccuracies - Respecting the tradition of the game is as important as delivering new gameplay mechanics. In the lead-up to the historic World Cup, we have worked closely with the International Football Association Board, FIFA Technical Study Group, UEFA, AIAS, FIFA Advisory Board, and Global Sports, to create a pitch that fosters tactical play, incorporates more intuitive controls, and represents our vision of how the game should play. Further detailed and accurate pitch surface features and graphic
